WELL AND SNAPE PARISH MAGAZINE.

Tony Myers has a connection with this parish, and we have just heard with deep regret that his father, aged 79, has passed away, and was laid to rest at Tanfield—to him we extend our sympathy.

Football Snape appears to flourish, and now Well has blossomed out with a team, but Well City Disunited lost heavily to Thornbro Town, 12-1! It did us good, as a drubbing often does, and pulled the Disunited together, and more like Well United, yet Nosterfield Hornets won 8-0, and in a few games Well City may score the right way? They have a win of 4-0 against the Nosterfield Wasps, and seem Well United now.

Well Churchyard. The repair and painting of the railings is now well in hand, and when completed should make a good job for 25 years, or more. The church gates will also be done, and anything necessary, but the cost is heavy, and we wish to raise £2 for this object, and do not hesitate to appeal to all parishioners and friends to do their bit and help in the work—any donations may be sent to the Churchwardens, or given at a Special Offertory—it concerns the whole parish and not the Churchgoers only.

"Tyler." Alas! After working for nearly 45 years on the same farm, on which he must know every stone and twig and ditch, living about 40 years in the same house and paying a rent, with roots, no doubt, deeply embedded in Mill Lane and stretching to "the beck," you are now about to leave us, and breaking up your home! going perhaps to that fashionable spot, called Harrogate. Farewell, Tyler, but come and see us now and then, even in top hat and frock coat, and cigar. You may even take a farm, grow new dentals, and use a car? Who knows? Good luck anyway to you and Mrs., especially after her first acquaintance with a motor cycle. We are glad she is better, and Harrogate air and waters may work wonders on you both.

October 19th. The Harvest services were continued as usual, with anthem and special hymns, and offertory given to Leeds Infirmary.

The Choirs Festival arranged for Bedale, November 8th, has been cancelled, owing to various hindrances, and illness of Mr. Rowden.

May we repeat that any parish fixtures will be welcomed for insertion, and there is no charge for publication of any socials—it is like a free ADV.

Lastly, but not least, we wish to thank the organist and choir for their attendance, practices and help at all these services—John must have had a heavy day at Snape harmonium with those hearty hymns! good exercise, no doubt, and appreciated. In future we hope that the choir and organist will be "invited" to the supper, as a return for their services—or payment voluntary, but, those kiddies can eat!
